SPECIAL SERIES LASTS A WEEK

Eightieth Anniversary of Wesley
Chapel Draws Big Attendance.

A series of notable celebrations were held in the churches of Washington yesterday. Anniversary, special sermons, and services of special import marked the eightieth anniversary of the birth of the great Methodist leader. The various congregations, particularly at the morning services, while each service later was well attended.

In celebration of its eightieth year, a series of services, which will continue throughout the week, was begun yesterday morning in Wesley Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church. Two former pastors of the church, the Rev. J. Fred Helms, of Baltimore, and the Rev. W. L. McKenney, also of Baltimore, were present at the morning service.

Memorial Window.
One of the features of the morning service was the unveiling of a memorial window to William R. Woodward, Walter F. Rodrick, and Theodore L. King. Funds for the window were subscribed by the congregation, by whom the names of these three late churchmen are held dear.

A special anniversary service will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight, on Thanksgiving morning the principal service of the week will be held.

The Rev. Samuel H. Woodrow, pastor of the First Congregational Church, took occasion to condemn international marriages last night, in the sixth of his sermons on "Joseph, the Dreamer." Dr. Woodrow pointed to the marriage of Joseph and Asenath, the daughter of the High Priest of On, saying: "It was not the case of an impudent dukelet or lordlet, seeking the hand of an American heiress, that he might have money to pay his gambling debts and support his mistresses. Joseph's marriage was that of a pure and able man to a virtuous and talented woman. Such marriages are made in heaven; the others smell of brimstone."

The Rev. Dr. John Reid Shannon, pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. Church, delivered an interesting sermon last night on "The All Surrounding Spirit World." The sermon was the second in a series on this subject.

"Boys' Brigade Sunday" was celebrated in several of the Washington churches with special services. Among the churches which devoted one of their day's services to the boys were St. Mark's and the North Carolina Avenue Baptist Church.

A meeting of the council governing the local division of the U. B. C. A. was held in the Y. M. C. A. to discuss ways and means for raising funds to carry on the work of the organization. The Rev. John Van Schaick, pastor of the Church of Our Father, last night delivered the second sermon in his series on "The Evils of a City as a Whole."

Leper as Subject.

John Early, the leper, was taken as the subject of a sermon last night by the Rev. M. Ross Fishburn, in the Mt. Pleasant Congregational Church. Mr. Fishburn declared that in the case of Early the people of Washington had been reminded of Palestine and the plague which swept through that and other eastern countries centuries ago, and of how the leper was driven out into the wilderness. He said that the people of Washington had shown by their attitude a greater leniency toward the stricken man and had proved that there is room for the leper here.

One of the most interesting events of last night was a service in the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, at which an address was delivered by Dr. N. L. Bartlett on "Music and its place in the church."

A sermon on "The Crown that Fades" was delivered last night by the Rev. Dr. Charles Wood, at the men's meeting in the Church of the Covenant. Dr. Wood pointed out the difference between the power which is transitory and that which endures.

A two-weeks' revival meeting in Hamline M. E. Church closed last night with a sermon on "Eternal salvation" by the Rev. Dr. C. W. Dress, a South American missionary. Dr. Dress also delivered an address yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A.

COMES FROM AFRICA

TO CLAIM A BRIDE

Ruel C. Warriner Travels Here

From Land of the Boers.

Coming all the way from South Africa to claim a Washington girl as his bride, Ruel C. Warriner took out a marriage license to wed Miss Suzanne C. Guthrie, 1777 Church street northwest. The marriage is to be performed today at the home of the bride by the Rev. C. Ernest Smith.

For ten years Mr. Warriner has been a mining engineer. John Warriner, facing the perils and hardships of the wild country in the rich mining districts, all the time working for the girl on the other side of the world whom he will take back with him when the Lusitania steams out of New York December 2.

GIRLS' CLUB FORMED.

A new junior club of the Young Women's Christian Association, has been organized from the younger girls employed in the Woodward and Lothrop store. The object of the club is the development of womanly character in these girls. The club is named for its motto, "We are learning." Meetings are held weekly with a supper at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, followed by gymnasium work.

TRIES TO HANG SELF; BLAMES WIFE'S "MA"

Negro Gets Peevish When Police Refuse to Give Him a Revolver to Shoot His Mother-in-Law—Wants to Exterminate the Whole Family.

Joseph Albany, colored, twenty-six years of age, married, troubled, converted himself into another variation of the mother-in-law joke last night by trying to hang himself at No. 1 precinct, because the police refused to give him a pistol with which to put his wife and mother-in-law into a long, deep sleep. Joseph created some stir as he walked into headquarters and punitively asked Sergeant Carter or Detectives O'Dea and Evans, he didn't care which, to furnish him with a revolver. Tumbling to the fact that Joseph had a grievance, he was accorded unusually courteous treatment and invited behind the railing, where he took a seat.

Then Joseph unfolded a tale just like those we have read in the funny books or heard down at the variety houses for years and years. His mother-in-law had been treating him badly for months, Joseph said, blubbering, and now he determined upon extermination of the species as the only remedy. The detectives looked rather unconcerned at this revelation; they had often heard it, and estimated that some mothers-in-law weren't directors of the Humane Society.

"Ah jes can't stand it any longer," said Joseph. "Gib me er gun and I'll fix 'em, fer good an' all."

Gently Detective O'Dea slipped a pair of handcuffs over the negro's wrists. Tenderly the sergeant and his valiant companions went through the pockets. Some 200 matches, a piece of soiled cloth, several newspaper clippings on "Jail breaking" and "Olney Smith," and a couple of love letters, were found. The latter were written with exquisite care with every "I" dotted and every "t" crossed.

Joseph was persuaded to meander toward No. 1 precinct where No. 7 cell was awaiting him. Here he was turned over to Policeman Martin, who was told that inasmuch as the disconsolate married man hadn't been able to kill his wife and mother-in-law, he might possibly put himself out of the way, as the second best thing.

The theory was right. Joseph hadn't been in the cell thirty minutes before Policeman Martin heard a gurgling sound, such as might be made by a merry brook pursuing the even tenor of its way, and he repaired in haste to the origin thereof. Here he found Joseph Albany ornamenting the far end of his suspenders, of which he had made a miniature hangman's rope. Joseph was cut down, the gurgling stopped, and the gurgler told that he would be held for an investigation as to his sanity, or insanity, avowing that he wished to die and mumbling incoherently about his mother-in-law. Joseph said he lived in the rear of 248 F street northwest which had been the scene of his suffering for months.

METHODISTS HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES

Anniversary Celebrated and Memorial Is Unveiled.
Has Been Closed.

Services of an unusually significant nature marked the reopening yesterday of the Wesley Methodist Church, at Fifth and F streets. The church has been closed for repairs for three months, and yesterday was the first day the congregation had been permitted to worship there. The day also marked the eightieth anniversary of the establishment of the church.

An additional service was the unveiling of a memorial erected in the west wall of the church to honor the memory of William R. Woodward, Walter F. Rodrick, and Theodore L. King, organizers of the church, who perished in the Terra Cotta wreck. Elizabeth Woodward, a granddaughter of Mr. Woodward, Virginia Gallier, and Bessie Ober unveiled the window, while a quartet sang a hymn.

The morning sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. J. P. Helms, pastor of the church from 1897 to 1902, and now superintendent of the West Baltimore district of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In the evening, the Rev. W. L. McKenney, also a former pastor, preached. The church was crowded at both services. Anniversary services will continue throughout the week.

QUAKER SUPPORTS IMPRESSIVE RECITAL

Speaker Declares George Fox
Would Not Oppose Ceremony.

That George Fox, founder of the Quakers, were he living today, would not condemn the communion table, the baptismal font, the choir and other accessories that make for dignity and impressiveness, is the opinion of Prof. Sidwell, principal of the Friends Select School.

Fox was a man of piety, declared Prof. Sidwell, in a lecture on "The Founder of the Quakers" delivered last night at All Souls' Church, Fourteenth and I streets. "And he was born at a time when men had begun to question the divine right of kings and some of the policies of the established church. He was not so much opposed to the practice of ceremonies as he was grieved at the lack of spiritualism underlying them."

YOUR STOMACH DISTRESS AND INDIGESTION ENDED FOREVER

Why not start now—today, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and Indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching or eructations or indigestible food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of indigestion and upset stomach in five minutes.

TARIFF FOR REVENUE URGED BY CARNEGIE

Ironmaster Declares Need for Protection of Most Industries Has Passed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Declaring that it is the duty of Congress to make decided changes in the tariff, and pointing out where these changes would be most beneficial, Andrew Carnegie, in the December issue of the Century Magazine, advocates tariff for revenue, but not for protection.

Mr. Carnegie has an intimate knowledge of the tariff schedules on steel, and these he says should be abandoned altogether.

He says that the steel industry needs protection, "because it is now produced cheaper here than anywhere else, notwithstanding the higher wages paid per man."

The same treatment, he adds, should be applied to oil. Mr. Carnegie makes the proviso, however, that there may be a few specialties in the steel business with which he is not familiar which need protection, and if such is the case, the expressed hope that Congress will foster them by means of a sufficient tariff.

"While the tariff as a whole," writes Mr. Carnegie, "even today has ceased to be primarily beneficial as a measure of protection, it has become of vast importance for the standpoint of revenue, and it is to this feature I bespeak the special attention of readers of all parties for duties upon imports—not for protection, but for needed revenue—should not become a party question. Reasonable men of all parties must be expected to approve this plan of obtaining revenue."

WILLIAM LORIMER ILL;

BLOOD IS POISONED

Member of Congress Is in Serious

Condition in Portland,

Oregon.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—William Lorimer, Congressman from the Sixth district of Illinois, is suffering from blood poisoning at Portland, Ore., according to telegrams received in Chicago.

The Congressman's sickness was the direct result of infection from a hypodermic needle. For over a year Mr. Lorimer has been subject to fainting spells, induced by a misplaced artery immediately in front of his right ear. From these spells he had to be aroused by hypodermic injections and it was from an infected needle that his blood was poisoned.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one triangle will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Distress is waiting for you as soon as you decide to begin taking Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to be thoroughly cured of Indigestion.

KEY IS VINDICATED IN HIS CRITICISMS

Conference Report Bears
Out His Faultfinding With New Battleships.

Commander Albert L. Key, former naval aide to the President, has been vindicated in his criticism of the design of the battleships North Dakota and Delaware, the first American Dreadnoughts. In an official summary of the report of the Newport conference, which has just been printed and made public, the board agrees almost without exception with the criticisms, except that in two instances it remains silent. In some instances the board does not recommend changes in design because changes would delay the completion of these two vessels.

Armor Inadequate.

With reference to Commander Key's statement that the 5-inch casemate armor was inefficient for the protection of the 5-inch battery and uptakes, the conference admitted that the thickness was inadequate, and recommended 8-inch casemate armor on future vessels. The conference admitted that the 5-inch torpedo defense guns were "too low to be used in ordinary trade wind weather," and recommended that they be placed in a more elevated position, and afforded better protection.

The conference rejected, however, Commander Key's suggestion that these guns be placed in 8-inch turrets of their own on the main deck.

No opinion was expressed by the board relative to the unarmed ends of the North Dakota, which Commander Key characterized as dangerous.

Another Defect.

The placing of one of the 12-inch magazines between the engine and boiler room, where it is surrounded by heated steam pipes, was acknowledged to be a serious defect, and the conference recommended that in future ships, this arrangement be avoided.

The North Dakota and Delaware, the conference said, are too far completed to make a change in this respect and the plans of the Utah and Florida would be delayed in approval were the changes made. Therefore in these four vessels, the defect will be overcome by refrigeration.

EXPENSE NO MATTER WHERE PAYNE WORKS

Ways and Means Committee Room Furnished on a Scale of Magnificence Which Makes Even Supreme Court Look Tawdry.

Chairman Sereno Payne, of the House Committee on Ways and Means, no longer feels injured because, like the ordinary member of Congress, he has been relegated to the new $40,000 office building.

Elliot Woods, superintendent of the Capitol buildings, has provided the balm in the shape of the most elaborate committee rooms that have ever been planned in the history of the United States. And the end is not yet, already more than $30,000 has been spent on fitting up the quarters for the committee of which Payne is chairman.

Beautiful red velvet carpets cover the white marble floors, mahogany furniture fills each of the three rooms and gorgeously upholstered chairs are provided for the members.

Although the hearing room at present looks almost as impressive as the chamber of the United States Supreme Court, its decoration is not yet complete.

The committee sits behind a semi-circular desk, or work table, with places for nineteen members.

The base of this semi-circular desk is of Vermont marble, eighteen inches high.

Above the base are mahogany panels in the center of which is a hand carved shield of the United States. The chairs are proportionately expensive. The framework is of mahogany, with brass trimmings and upholstered in Spanish leather.

Temporary chandeliers serve for the present, but permanent ones are now in the process of manufacture.

The pendants will be of cut glass suspended, as will the lights, from silver tubing and all of the metal will be silver.

The great windows will soon be draped in a manner which would suit the most fastidious housewife. The curtains will be of ecru linen, with red velvet draperies at the top. Mural paintings will soon decorate the walls.

In the room reserved for the executive sessions of the committee has been installed a magnificent mahogany table, which cost $800. The other furniture was bought on the same scale.

The architects are now engaged on plans to make a similar suite of rooms at the east end of the building, on an even more elaborate scale than that prevailing in the Ways and Means Committee. No committee has as yet been assigned to these quarters, but it has been suggested that they would be appropriate for the House Judiciary Committee.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. MORRISON

Touching Tribute Paid by Minister.
Death Comes Soon After Wedding.

At the funeral of Mrs. Pearl Shipley Morrison, held yesterday afternoon from the family residence at 1230 W street northwest, a touching tribute was paid by the Rev. Samuel H. Greene, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, who conducted the services.

The young woman was a bride of but five weeks and was preparing to join her husband in southern California when stricken.

The body was temporarily laid away in the receiving vault at Congressional Cemetery.

KEEPS POSSE AT BAY IN A ROCKY GLEN

Escaped Murderer, Armed, Stands
Off Searchers in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Heavily armed and hidden in the forest about Suto, Samuel H. Taylor, an escaped murderer, is at bay, while a strong posse, led by fourteen deputy sheriffs, encircles his hiding place, and are slowly closing in. The man hunters are under orders to shoot Taylor on sight.

Taylor is believed to be strongly fortified in a rocky glen, well supplied with food and water, and able to withstand a long siege. He is known as a sure shot, and it is expected he will sell his life dearly.

ONE DECISION GIVES JUDGE GREAT FAME

Right to Search Husband's Pockets Ruling Gets Mullowny Glory.

Almost aghast is Judge Mullowny, of the Police Court, at the notoriety he has achieved through his recent decision that a married woman has a perfect right to search the pockets of her sleeping spouse.

Judge Mullowny has received clippings from a large number of papers, which have commented on the decision. The paragraphers have taken him into their department with great gusto, while the cartoonists are working overtime in depicting the far-reaching results of the decision.

"I suppose that decision has had such wide notoriety because it comes right home to every man," said Judge Mullowny today in commenting on the editorials and funny cartoons.

The judge thought he had before him a case that would have to follow in line with the precedent established in the Ridgway case, Saturday, when John Smith asserted on the witness stand that his pockets had been searched while he was asleep and $35 extracted.

"Are you a married man?" asked Judge Mullowny, thinking here was a case that came exactly within the rule laid down in the Ridgway case. But Smith was not a married man and the application of the rule was not made.

It is expected that next week letters will begin to pour in from outside cities for copies of the ruling in the Ridgway case. The papers have used the story from the Atlantic to the Pacific and inquiries will undoubtedly come from a wide area.

"SPARKS" IS NAME OF A NEW WEEKLY

"Sparks," an attractive weekly of twenty pages, has issued its first number.

The magazine is published by the Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis Electric Railway Company, under the direction of George H. Gail, general passenger agent, a former Washington newspaper man.

The Users of Evaporated Milk

When you come to want Van Camp's Milk, please don't think that other milks are like it. Read these facts—know the truth about it. Then insist on getting just the milk you want.

How Quality is Reduced

It is just a question of evaporation. One-third of the water of raw milk can be taken out by evaporation, or twice as much water can be taken out. The resulting product of both processes will look and taste much alike.

But stop and think of the difference in cost. Realize how it will be when you come to dilute the milk for use.

Is it not perfectly plain why some brands of milk are urged on you by manufacturers as "Just as good as Van Camp's"? Don't take some other brand and think it is like Van Camp's Evaporated Milk.

The Difference

The difference is in the richness, for after purity, richness controls the value of milk.

The manufacturer of some other brand may have told your grocer his brand is as rich as Van Camp's. But is it so?

Just now the United States laws don't protect you and your grocer against weak, Evaporated Milk, because the standard has been relaxed. The law is not enforced. There is much competition and great temptation to reduce the quality so the wholesale prices can be reduced.

Van Camp's Milk has not been reduced in price (your grocer will tell you that) and we positively guarantee you the quality has not and will not be reduced.

Quality is what you must have and we know it is wise to give it to you.

So quality is what you can depend upon in Van Camp's Milk.

Sanitary Milk

But Van Camp's means more than richness, more than economy to you. Our cows are inspected. So are the men who milk them.

Our dairies are sanitary. Cleanliness is carried to extremes. The buildings where our milk is evaporated are built without wood.

When you get Van Camp's, you know that every precaution has been taken against infection. You know nothing of other milks.

Not "Condensed Milk"

Also remember that Van Camp's is not like "condensed milk." All so-called "condensed milks" are half sugar. The sugar is used to preserve them.

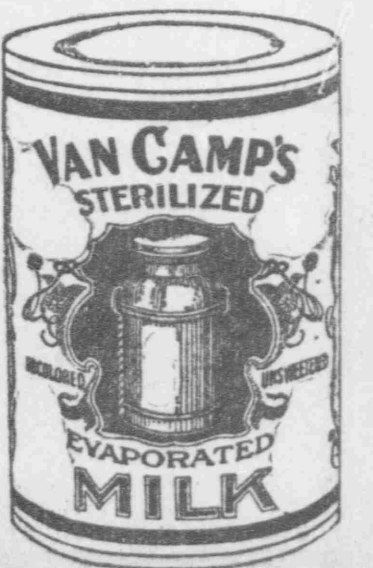

Therefore, "condensed milk" is but little more than half milk. And, because of the sugar, you can't use it for cooking.

Van Camp's is nothing but milk. We add no sugar, no starch, no preservative. The preserving is done solely by sterilization.

Van Camp's serves for cooking just as well as for coffee. It serves every purpose of raw milk and cream. And it gives to milk dishes a flavor which you never can get without it.

Those are the facts. Judge for yourself which milk you want. Then insist that you get it.

Get the Milk with this label and you will get it right—
